

CONCLUSION

The dryness fraction of Steam was obtained using various methods outlined in the theory & these are the separating, combined separating and throttling calorimeters. From the results obtained it can be concluded that the steam from the separating method is of good quality. Therefore it can be concluded that all the experimental objectives were achieved, as required.

REFERENCES

- (1) R. Soel, Basic Engineering Thermodynamics
3rd Edition
- 2) Lab Report Hand out.