Key points so far:

- Turnout is very high at 73%
- In these 107 (69% of the total) constituencies, the UPND has a strong lead with 62% of the vote, with the PF trailing a long way back on 36%.
- UPND has built a big lead on the Copperbelt (57%) and Lusaka (62%) – the two most populous provinces that account for 31% of all registered voters.
- The PF are on 56% in Eastern Province – which sounds good until you realise that in 2016 PF won 79% in 2016 – so this represents a fall of 23%.
- In Muchinga – often said to be his strongest constituency – President Lungu is on 60% of the vote, down from 83% in 2016, which represents another decline of 23%
